The Corporation dump was closed two days last week, much to the inconvenience of many villagers who are now trying to tidy up their surroundings after a long and damaging winter season. The dump was reopened Sunday and if the dumping privilege is not abused it will remain open.

The dump a project of the Bethel Village Corporation has come to be regarded as a necessity by many local people, and the slovenly use of the place by a few citizens reflects upon the rest. In fact the offenders are very few in number, but careless performance by these few overshadows the reasonable practices of the remainder.

The rules for the use of the dump are the same as they have been since the dump was estaolished. These rules are simple, necessary, reasonable, practical. It only is required that: all rubbish be dumped over the bank, no loose paper or dead animals be deposited on the dump, and that no fires be Observance of these requirements will assure continuance of the dumping privilege. Otherwise it may be necessary to impose restrictions or make other arrangements.

EUROPE: Zero Hour

All the world tensed in anticipation of the U.S. and British invasion of western Europe, expected to coincide with other Allied thrusts in the Mediterranean and a great Russion offensive against German lines in eastern Poland.

As the enemy reported on huge concentrations of Allied shipping and navel formations in English waters, neutral sources quoted German strength at 90,000, men in Norway, 160,000 in Finland; 180,000 in the Balkans; 375,000 in Italy; 75,000 along the Mediterranean coast, 450,-000 along the Atlantic wall, with 500,6% at strategic points in France. Germany and central Europe and finally 2,625,000 in Russia.

As the zero hour approached for the greatest battle in history. U. S. and British bombers roared over Europe, amashing at concrete and steel defense bunkers, ripping up communication lines over which the enemy might rush troop concentrations and pouring are on industries supplying the Nazi wehrmacht.

In the interests of efficiency, unity of command, economy and elimination of duplications, two war department officers studying reorganization of the services urged the consolidation of the army and navy into single command instead of separate arms as at present.

However, the spokesmen refused (Minn.), who siso suggested the you what's the matter with it. adoption of a single uniform for all branches and their functioning as teams. Without a single command, the spokesmen said, the task of coordinating army and navy units and preparing for defense must be left to the President, without any workable machinery to aid him. Economies in securing munitions and other supplies would be effected through a single command, the

spokesmen asserted. WORLD BANK: For Trade Stability

WNU Service, Union Trust Building | small farming and very small farm-Washington, D. C.

Out in Falls Church, Virginia, little way from Washington, there lives a friend of mine who was brought up on a farm. Last, year, some new neighbors moved in next door - city folks, you could tell by looking at them, but full of pep and vinegar and very patriotic. They started out to make a victory gar-

My friend smiled, and then he pitched in and told him some of the facts of plant life.

It isn't going to benefit my triend Dr. Phillips spoke with great feeleven if his neighbor's garden is a ing, one of the first things to do is record breaker but he's a typical to teach the Chinese peasant that it American and he's doing what we all used to do back in the old days when neighbor depended on neighbor - giving a helping hand when it is needed.

Last week, I sat down across the desk from a big, black-haired fellow, who looks a lot younger than he is in years and wisdom. His name is Dr. Ralph W. Phillips.

When I talked with him, he had just returned from giving a little neighborly advice over the back fence to our Chinese neighbors. He's in charge of genetics investigations for the Department of Agriculture and he was loaned to the State department, along with some 21 other experts, to go over to China (at the invitation of the Chinese) to look be put to the proof of their religious | around and see what ought to be

For you and me and most Americans, even those who don't know any more about a farm than to think "shorts" are just underwear, a cow that doesn't give milk wouldn't be much of a critter. But believe it or not, one of the results which it is hoped Dr. Phillips' trip will achieve adding that if the doctrines of the is to explain to the Chinese why cows have udders.

The Chinese know many things which we don't know, but Phillips has put between the covers of a book now being printed in China, a lot of things that the Chinese never knew before. He got his facts first hand, traveling over most of the unoccupied parts of China with the Chinese Minister of Agriculture and a good interpreter, and collated them against his own expert knowledge of animal husbandry. But as he said to me, if you know anything about a cow, a sheep or a horse, to go as for as Representative Mans you don't need an interpreter to tell

It was a hot day in Washington when I interviewed Dr. Phillips and

"I'm a shirtsleeve diplomat," he sald to me.

When I learned a little more of the details of his particular job. I realized that it was one in which you had to take off your coat and roll up your sleeves. Among other things, he rode saveral hundred miles over what the Chinese laughingly call roads, in ancient automobiles, and a good many miles on the back of a very tough Mongollan

FEDERAL OWNERSHIP

AFTER THE WAR' THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT has invested more than 20 billion dollars in war industrial plants which will be useless for the purpose for which they were erected when the war is over. In many cases these plants are but additions to smaller plants that were in existence before the war. In but few cases have the plants been directly operated by the government but have been under private management.

What will happen to this array of industrial productive capacity is one of the subjects covered by the Bernard Barnch report to the President and being considered by congress. A coterie of bureaucratic heads are urging that the government not only retain ownership, but also that the government operate them on peacetime products in competition with thousands of communities, and each community in which one is located has a direct interest in the problem of its disposal. There is one illuztration left over from World War I that can provide a basis for consideration. Hoboken, N. J., is a waterfront town in the New York harbor area. In it were located the docks of the North German Llqyd steamship company, a German owned corporation. The government seized those docks as alien property. That was more than 25 years ago, and the government still holds them as federal property. During those good food. And then to improve the | 25 years the little city of Hoboken breed so that it will give milk. At has mot received one cent of tax revenue from them. Based on the rentals of similar docks in Hoboken those owned by the federal government would have earned under private ownership $923,993 during 1943. From that sum Hoboken would have collected $478,245 as taxes. As it was, Hoboken got nothing and the loss had to be made up by other forms of taxes, paid by the people

> Despite lower rental charges, made possible because of no taxes, the government owned and operated piers have not been used to anywhere near capacity. Ship owners object to the theoretical regulations and the bureaucratic red tape they must wade through to use them. Ithas resulted in a 75 per cent loss in employment on the government owned piers, and an annual loss of some six, million dollars in retail trade in the town.

What has happened in Hobelian through 25 years of government ownership and operation can happen in any community in which the government owns a war plant, unless that plant passes into the hands of private owners to be privately operated when the war is over. Mr. Baruch strongly urges the transfer of these plants to private ownership and operation as a necessity in the preservation of our free enterprise system. The problem is actually in the hands of congress and congress will do what the people

Dr. Phillips had first-hand experience with these little animals whose ancestors were tough enough to carry Ghangis Khan across Asia but are too tough to follow the bridle if they get other ideas.

Up until now, there seems to have been no ordered effort by the representatives of any other foreign country to assist in the improvement of Chinese livestock. Missionaries here and there have introduced better grades which have had an influence in the immediate vicinity, German missionaries brought in some nice fat pigs. Others introduced good chickens and cows. But these were only a drop in the bucket.

The Chinese Department of Agriculture itself is a new thing and has very little background of training or experience. Perhaps the one most important influence has been the exchange established between Cornell university and the University in Nanking. A number of experts in agriculture have been trained at Cornell and have gone back to Naturally with such a large proportion of the population illiterate, it will be exceedingly difficult to spread the information even when the Chinese leaders themselves are trained.

The present Chinese government, despite the fact that almost every ounce of energy has to be turned toward fighting the war, has shown an interest evidenced by the welcome reception given the various American representatives, and the United States on its side has sought to improve its relations between people and extend its influence by this activity which is a part of the cultural relations program.

FARMERS AND

FERTILIZER VIA C.O.D. AGRICULTURAL department representatives in California, and possibly in other states, are advising farmers to buy fertilizer and take a receipt for the cost and amount, with a promise that the government will refund the cost in 1945 from the agricultural department appropriation of next year. In California, where citrus and other fruit and vegetable ranches represent small acrenge, the promise is to refund the cost of sulphur fertilizer to the extent of one ton per acre up to ten acres. For anything beyond ten acres the refund to be 25 per cent of the cost. It remains to be seen what congress will say about it, and that, of course, depends on who is elected to congress in November. It puts aid to the farmers on a CO.D.

FREIGHT RATES THE PRESENT FEDERAL TAX on commodity transportation costs is far from equitable for all sections of the nation. Transportation on a bushel of wheat from Montana to the sea coast is much greater than from states further east. The transportation tax on that bushel of Montana wheat is more than on the wheat grown farther east, and the farmer pays that difference in the price he gets for his wheat. Justus Craemer of the California State Railroad commission proposes a tax on the basis of weight of commodities of different freight classifications. All products of any one classification would pay the same tax regardless of the distance transported. That would be equitable for all.

TO, AT THIS TIME, BUY a new atlas on the presumption the end of the war will not see new national boundaries is presuming more than can be reasonably expected. There will be new boundary lines in Europe, in Asia, Africa and the islands of the seven seas. We are not an imperiolistic nation but when it is all over the American flag will replace the banner of the Rising Sun on many a Pacific lele. Some of the small nations will have disappeared from the map of Europe, colonies in Africa will change.

He quirted his tiring buckskin for better than a mile and the swath of trampled grass ran on vacantly ahead. He gave in then to his knowledge of their swifter ponies, His own had already given its best.

To crosscut between one bend and another he swung up the channel bank. He looked south and suddenly pulled his horse in and rode in short, fast circles. At the same time he drew his forty-four and shot it into the air. The far-off spot of blue was plain now-Joe Wheat bringing the cavalry troop. Yet at more than two miles they couldn't hear his gun and gave no sign of recognizing his riding signal. They kept on toward the stalled

Back there, equally two miles away, he could see the little darting figures of men spreading out to catch the horses. While almost out of sight beyond them the split-off bunch of cattle were vanishing to the west.

The channel wandered back and forth, the banks gently sloping, its bottom smooth and green. The short cuts let him gain a lot. They'd keep under cover themselves, following down the crooked way. He watched backward, hoping any moment that some of the outfit would show up. But they might be riding directly along the Indians' trail. Each time he plunged into the winding course there was only the empty trampled grass. Those devils could move!

His run brought the black Wichitas locating up into the fog that had held low overhead all day. Light around him began to fade. The channel straightened. He saw water of North Fork Creek beyond the narrow mouth.

THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1944 ****

For many years the people of Bethel village have taken pride in the trees which line their streets. The stately elms and other beautiful trees have been reminders of the town's early days when fore-sighted citizens envisioned the possibilities of their chosen village a century in advance.

The ravages of time, with occasional careless inattention ad the eneroachments of modern enterprise, have during recent years removed many of these monu-ments of the village forefathers. The destructive anowatorm of last November wrought untold dam age. Aihough an appropriation by the Village Corporation will do what may be possible to restore the trees along the streets, it is the duty of property owners to look after hundreds of other trees which have outlered as much and which should in many cases be removed

Why Farmers Should Buy and Hold War Bonds

hy Charles H. Merchant Head, Dept. of Agricultural Economics University of Maine

WEARE winning this global wer but final victory may be a long way off. We all hope the end is near, but we must plan for a long wor, one which may lost two or more years. Certainly, it is Arbeart ring to think that much theur against on both the Euro-tean and Acietic fronts is ahead if is, accompanied by long cosu-ally lists. Un leasant on this outel: al cars it is much better than being enclaved by the mur-der-us and plandering dictators of Germany and Japan.

Hitler was right when he stated that this would be a total war. All of us must share its responsibilities and cudure its many socriflees. Unfertunately, all of us cannot share them equally. It is the farmer's job and his part in this war to produce farm products as never before, under the most trying and difficult conditions.

In some countries food pro-duced by farmers is taken away from them, but here in America farmers in general receive good prices for their farm products. Some of the extra money received should go into the purchase of War Bonds for the financing of this war. All must buy War Bonds, for our boys at the front must be the best trained and equipped fighters in the world, It is much better to sacrifice material and equipment than the life of your boy or that of your neighbor's son on the bat-proud to share in this privilege. In fact, we should sacrifice to buy as many War Bonds as possible The Bonds farmers buy will help to shorten the war and at the same time form the soundest in-vestment ever known. These Bonds will give the greatest return to fremers and others if they are held until maturity. Also by hold-ing them you will help materially in preventing inflation now and after the war.

Let us pause just a moment and analyse the situation. In general, farmers have surplus funds with which they would like to buy machinery, equipment, and many other things for the farm and the nome. But all of these things are not available in the quantity desired. Therefore, farmers simply must go without them at least until they become available. It is just common sense that all of the things which the farmers would like to buy, and many of them desperately needed, will not be available the day after the war is over or even within a year, Dur-ing this time and probably longer I feel there is going to be a strong demand and good prices for farm products. Hence, most farmers will want to hold their War Bonds.

In sizing up the entire situation It looks like good sound business for farmers to buy all the War Bonds possible and plan to hold them until maturity unless the each is desperately needed. Thus, farmers are helping their country in financing the war and in preventing inflation by helping them-

Running Away From It All

She may be the humblest worker of all our 30 million working women.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

AM envious of my husband, his sisters, brothers and friends," writes Ann from Boston, "and as a result I am half-sick with misery, resentment and hate.

"I married 'way above any expectations a girl like myself might have," her letter goes on. "Herbert is the youngest son of a very rich family; there are six perfect servants in this house; I have nothing to do. We live with his mother, a widowell sister, and her three half-grown children. Everyone else has children. I was in a motor accident in the middle of my first pregnancy, never can have a child. This broke Herbert's heart (he heart, too. Nobody cared about my

"Now Herbert's going to Africa, and I am left to take up Red Cross work with his mother, read books, listen to the radio. It seems to me I will go mad. What am I doing wrong, what should I do? Can you help me? I feel as if I was in a bad dream."

Unhappy Wife Should Leave.

That's the letter, and id answer I say that there are circumstances wher the only cure for daily, hourly miseries of Jeniousy and suffering Is to get out. Such a case is that of the office clerk who is brought into constant contact with the married employer with whom she is in love. or the mother who cannot stand by and see an adored ignorant idle extravagant new wife make her son

Ann has an excellent argument in that Herbert is calmly leaving her | find work friends, amusement. And, to join the armed forces. He is justified; he probably did not even romult her about the step. A war Is on, and men are needed

- But women are needed, too, and Ann is equally justified in going off to had work of her own Hard work: work that will bring her into contact with warmen working as hard as she. The WACs, perhaps, or the WAVES. Or let her get right on the assembly line in one of the thousands of new factories, foundries or machine

With her changed clothes, environment, contacts, friendships she will find herself again Her deadened personality will develop, self-confidence and good simple common sense will return. She may be the humblest worker of all our 50,000,000 working women; the sensis of vietory may never hear of her, but she will play her part, just as the Unicat cot and pin and screw of a great battleship plays its part, and success

A DIFFERENT KIND OF CRISIS

"Members of his family all speak languages, have traveled, know about books and music-it all comes easy to them. I am not even grammatical; I've had no chance to improve. Nobody is unkind to me, but nobody needs

That is the unhappy predicament in which Ann finds herself. She married the son of a very rich family, and now he's going to war. She knows that she will not be happy living with his family. According to Miss Norris, Ann is justified in going off to find work of her own. Hard work, work that will bring her into contact with other women working as hard as she does. Or she might join the WACS armed forces. And if Ann is wise, she will begin to study serious, to improve herself in every possible way. Then, when her husband returns. she will be able to take her place at his side, confident that she no longer is super-

And a different type of family might have sensed the predicament of the youngest member-Ann was just 17 when she married, and have made it easier for her. Some sister-in-law, some one of the younger nunts and cousins might have taken Ann under her wing, helped her slong the hard path. But evidently Ann was not capable of absorbing the culture all about her, of enjoying her adventure, and evidently the hard-shelled Social Registerites didn't feel inclined to make any effort in the direction of Herbert's

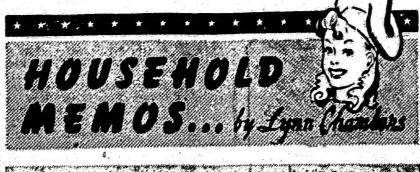

So the best thing to do, for the duration anyway, is to break away, If Ann is wise, she will begin to atudy seriously on the side, improve her pronunciation, her choice of terms, her knowledge of good books and of what is going on in the world, Sometimes, if the security of small children is involved, a woman is obliged to endure difficult conditions -the indifference of her husband, the troubles created by his mother and sisters, the sense of being pushed uside and made to feel ridieulous or superfluous.

But in Aon's case these elements don't exist. Through no fault of her own she is childless, and temporarily husbandless She has every right to find for herself a happier set of streumstances. If she can be generous enough to do this without Jeopardizing the dignity of the family, if she can manage to maintain a friendly correspondence with her mother-in-law, and go home for an occasional visit, she will be sure to and her own place secure and important in the circle after the war.

Bombing Crews From Texas, Oklahoma, Based in England, Pound Hitler's Europe

Southwestern Boys Eager to Finish Job And Get Back Home

By SGT. JIM SWARTZ JR.

The tender beauty of an English spring surrounds this American medium bomber station, but the fighting men from the U.S.A. are too busy with their big job to notice it. Most of these fellows, come from the Southwest - Texas and Oklahoma—from the cattle ranches and oil fields.

I talked to a score of these fliers at a Marauder bomber station in rural England. I heard them re-live past experiences in the skies over Europe . . . spin their dreams of victory . . . and plan for a peaceful future back in their home towns in the Southwest. .

And I saw a look of determination on the faces of these men that made me glad I wouldn't be one of the enemy when these Yanks from Texas and Oklahoma take their bombers to the Nazis' invasion front

Alex Owen is one of these fighting neighbors of yours. He came all the way from Tyler, Texas, to man a .50-caliber gun in this war, and he's the kind of lad you'd like to know. Alex enlisted in the air forces back in 1941, after making friends with countless citizens of Tyler from behind the counter in "Men's Clothing" at a local department store. Today he is a veteran tail gumer with 39 missions over France, Holland and Belgium to his credit. And he wears the coveted Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and five Oak Leaf clusters.

What does the Big Show mean to Alex Owen? Ask him and you'll get an answer as honest and straightforward as a fellow-Texan's word of

"I wouldn't miss it for one helluva lot," he told me that day. "Sure, it's rough. We're not fighting a war with kid gloves on, man."

'Back to Tyler.'

That was Alex's story, and it's much like the one I heard from another Southwesterner that day at this American bomber base in rural England. His name engineer-gunner from Coweta. Oklahoma, a small, friendly town 30 miles from Tulsa. Joe (officially, he is Staff Sergeant Joe W. Shouse) is a 22-year-old veteran of 35 missions, and he says the coming invasion can't start too soon. Back in 1941 and part of 1942, Joe was a sheet metal worker for the Spartan Aircraft company, in Tulsa. But when you mention postwar plans to the young Oklahoma gunner he says he has put them all on the shelf for the duration.

"I'm too excited about the job I've got now," Joe told me that day in his Nissen hut "home" at this Marauder base.

His hut-mates and fellow-gunners like to tell you how cool Joe is under fire, and after a brief conversation with him you agree with them. And when I left Joe that day I figured I'd met the "typical" fighting man from the Southwest.

Then, a few minutes later, in another Nissen hut, I met other air force men from your home

FROM BASES in England, medium bombers range deep Into Germany, France and Norway, wrecking enemy factories, harbor installations and railroad yards.

towns . and their stories are the kind you like to hear, too, because these neighbors of yours will all be in the aerial front lines when the big fight comes home to the Nazis. There were three Texans in that Nissen hat, and as you approach its front dust yen see this olgn over- tem firm in Houston head: "The thingsters' Roost: Texicans Included "

PLYING CADETS at Ellington Field, Texas, practice their radio code sending and receiving with the roar of the great motors thundering in their ears. These future bombardiers and payigators know that when they are in air combat they will have to hear above the crash of bombs, crackling of machine guns and booming of ack-ack as well as the hum of the engines, The flying schools of Texas are turning out thousands of air corps men monthly.

THE CREW of a medium bombing plane is a strongly welded fivelink chain, in the conception of Sergt. W. D. Morey of Kelly Field, Texas. The five men-navigator, mechanic, pilot, bombardler and gunner-train, fly and fight as one.

Inside, around a warm, pot-bellied stove, there is Ramon Western, a crew chief from Alvord, Texas. And next to him there is a young mechanic by the name of Tommy Busselle, a Houston youth who used to play a saxophone in a home-town orchestra. Then, to round out the Texas trio, there is Bob Allen. another Houstonian and an aircraft

I wondered about that legend on the door, and Tommy Busselle gave me the details.

"We call it the 'Gangsters' Roost' because that explains how some of us ground crew chiefs get our equipment," (This with a wide grin playing across Tommy's face.) "And as for the word 'Texicans,' that was robust youth who proudly boasts that he is three-fourths Indian (Seminole and Delaware tribes) and then adds, grinning: "The other 25 per cent of me is as Irish as Paddy's

Walt (or "Chief," as he's known at this field) is one of the crack crew chiefs in his group. His ship, "Baby Bumps," has gone out on 53 missions without turning back, and the Chief, who is a former oil field roustabout from Dewey, Oklahoma, is plenty proud of that record. Walt likes to talk about such

Oklahoma oil industry. "Well, I volunteered in this man's army, didn't I?" the "Chief" blasted out. "And until this war's over in both leagues I'm goin' to stick it the day when he can go back to the

When the war in Europe is all wrapped up, the Chief wants to take his Marauder over to the South Pacific (with Ramon Western, his crew chief pal from Alvord, Texas) and send it out against the little yellow

Then Walt says he'll be ready to head back to Oklahoma. Is he going back to the oil fields? "Hell, yes," is the Chief's reply to that one.

As I was leaving Walt with his second helping of steak and potatoes that day, he told me that I should have met the real hero of the Scott "tribe."

"He's my kid brother, Yoeman," Walt said. "Right now he's finishing up aviation training back home, but one of these days you'll be hearing

A MARAUDER soars through fleecy clouds over the patchwork English countryside, en route to a bombing mission on the continent. The B-26 is the fastest medium bomber in the world, with a speed of more than 350 miles per hour, delivered by its two 18-cylinder, 2,000-horsepower engines. (All pictures official U. S. Air Force photos.)

New Jersey who doesn't know how to spell 'Texans,' These 'foreigners' hand us a lot of laughs." he told me. Ramon Western is a Texan with a clear-cut idea of what he's going to do to help win this war. A crew chief, he sent one bomber, 'Damita," on 40 missions to Hitler's tottering European fortress. Then, when the trim Marauder went down one day, Ramon took up the fight with a successor, "Damita II." He has been in England since June, 1943, and he'd be as happy as a bomber mechanic knee-deep in grease if the invasion started tomorrow morning. Before the war, Ramon worked his way through three years of school - at John Tarleton Junior college, at Stephensville, and Texas A. & M. college. He lacks only a few hours' credit for a degree in agriculture, and when he gets back to Texas he wants to go back for that sheep-skin. Roger B Whitman-WNU Features, Question: Some time ago you wrote about a mixture for laying the dust of a concrete cellar floor. Will you please repeat?

DUSTY CONCRETE FLOOR

Answer: You can lay the dust by soaking the floor with a mixture of one part water glass in four parts of water. Make plenty of this mixture, so that it can be poured on the floor liberally, spread with a broom and the floor allowed to soak it up. At the end of some hours, wipe up any puddles that may remain. You may have to repeat the treatment within a day or two. But if you wish to paint the floor later on, water giass should not be used. If you should wish to paint, get a kind of paint that is proof against the effects of lime; for ordinary floor paint will not last on a basement floor if laid in the usual way.

LEAKING FLUSH TANK

Question: Our old-fashioned, hightype of wood flish tank is leaking. Could I use wood putty to mend it? Answer: Caulking compound would last longer. This is similar to putty (not wood putty) but never becomes hard or brutle. This compound is much used for repairing cutside leaks around window frames. It is forced into the crack with a caulking gun. Inquire about this at your hardware store.

How to Bulld Shower Stall Question: I am planning to build a shower in a space 32 mehes wide by 24 inches long and 7 feet high. What type of waterproof material can I use that will be economical. yet good? Must the floor be of cement, or can something else be used Instead?

EVERYBODY'S PLANNING. Recent farm surveys show that a majority of the people who own their own farms are ready, the minute war ends, to build and repair barns and buildings and make many other improvements. Tenants, too, are on the lookout for farms of their own to build on in the postwar period. This is going to take many millions of dollars. Wise farmers have been saving the money for these purposes. Many of them have saved it in War Bonds-and many more are on their way.

HOW TO GET READY. You probably have many places on the farm to put money when materials and machinery and equipment are again available -if you have the money! So why not start right now? Step up your savings by buying War Bonds—the best and safest way to invest for future needs.

WHEN THE BOYS COME HOME. Your youngster in service is doing a man's job now-and he expects to do a man's job when he gets home again. But he won't be happy with run-down buildings and inefficient equipment. So that's another good reason for stepping up your purchase of War Bonds. You're backing him up in his fight to preserve our country, and at the same time preparing for the kind of home he wants to come back to.
